

Bed & Breakfast Inns of Utah

2008 Membership Directory

Spectacular mountain ranges, astounding red rock formations, magnificent national parks, Native American ruins and pioneer trails are just a few of the reasons to explore Utah.

Outdoor enthusiasts love our state because of the great skiing, mountain biking, fishing, hiking and off-road opportunities available. There are numerous national forests, monuments and parks including Bryce Canyon, Zion, Arches, Capitol Reef and Canyonlands national parks; Rainbow Bridge, Grand Staircase-Escalante and National Bridges national monuments. In addition, you can access the Grand Canyon, visit nearby Monument Valley Tribal Park and enjoy recreational areas such as Lake Powell.

When planning your trip to Utah, make reservations at one of our inspected and approved bed and breakfasts, inns or ranches. Wherever you stay, you will find majestic national parks, scenic byways, historic cities and some of the best mountain resorts in the nation just a short distance away.

*The Mormon Temple
in Salt Lake City*

Logan: Travel along US Hwy. 89 through almost vertical canyon walls from the town of Logan to Bear Lake. The canyon slices through the peaks of the Wasatch Mountains following the Logan River. Activities include rock climbing, fishing, bird watching, camping, hiking, boating and more at Bear Lake.

Great Salt Lake: Located west of I-15, the remnant of the ancient Lake Bonneville is impressive, whether you stand on the shore or take to the water via kayak or dinner cruise. The lake varies in depth some 20 feet and is six or seven times saltier than the ocean.

Salt Lake City: This beautiful capitol city is surrounded by the Wasatch Mountains off I-15. Visit competition venues used during the 2002 Winter Olympics or take in an NBA game with the Utah Jazz, a baseball game with the Salt Lake Bees, attend a hockey game with the Utah Grizzlies or enjoy a soccer match with the Real Salt Lake Major League Soccer Team.

Tour the capitol building or explore the magnificent Temple Square, home of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (commonly known as the LDS or Mormon Church). The Square, which occupies an entire city block, is located in the center of the city. Within, you'll find the massive Mormon Temple and other buildings that celebrate the history of the Mormon settlers.

Salt Lake City also has wonderful shopping areas. The Gateway mall in the heart of downtown features more than 95 shops and restaurants offering high-quality clothing and the finest cuisine in the southwest.

Park City: This classic alpine town features some of the state's best ski resorts and is a favorite spot for hiking, backpacking, camping and fishing in the summer. East of Salt Lake City off I-80, the city hosted numerous 2002 Winter Olympic competitions. Park City is also known as the home of Robert Redford's annual Sundance Film Festival. Each January, the festival showcases new work from American and international independent filmmakers, attracting movie stars, producers, directors and avid cinema fans. An array of unique shops, antique stores, restaurants and theaters call Park City home. Stroll historic Main Street to catch a glimpse of the old silver mining days.

Park City is also a great place to golf. And there's never a shortage of entertainment—the Park City International Music Festival, International Jazz Festival, a film series, art galleries, music and dance venues, restaurants, bars and other venues keep residents and visitors busy long into the evening.

Sundance: South of Midway along Hwy. 189, you'll find one of the most famous ski resorts in the West. Turn west onto Utah 92 and head to Sundance Village—Robert Redford has combined the best facilities for art, film and literary development and a beautiful resort centered on providing relaxed luxury in a recreational wonderland.

Timpanogos Cave National Monument: Located along Hwy. 92 near Sundance Resort, this unique cave system is more than 1,000 feet above the floor of the American Fork Canyon. Explore three caverns decorated with unique colors and formations. The caves cover an area less than a square mile and can be reached by a strenuous 1.5-mile trail up rocky slopes. Tickets are required for entry and should be purchased in advance. For more information visit www.nps.gov/tica.

Provo: Stop at Bridal Veil Falls in Provo Canyon, just north of Provo on Hwy. 189. The double cataract waterfall drops about 600 feet, with an inspiring view from the canyon below. Provo is also home to Brigham Young University, one of the largest privately owned universities in the U.S. Art buffs should plan to make a stop at Springville Museum of Art in Springville just south of Provo. The museum has received national recognition and is Utah's oldest and most beautiful museum for the visual fine arts. The museum contains more than 1,500 works of art by Utah and American artists on the second floor alone.

Kayaking in the canyons

Cedar Breaks National Monument: The monument is located east of Cedar City in Southwestern Utah. Touring the monument is a great way to see how erosion can shape and change a plateau. The monument has been called a mini Bryce Canyon. An immense amphitheater carved over decades contains rock formations colored by iron and manganese. The 6,155-acre area contains hiking trails, scenic drives, campsites and picnic areas.

Cedar City: Tour the historic downtown shopping district which features unique “mom and pop” establishments perfect for finding a special gift for others or yourself. Art galleries, coffee houses, restaurants, an old time soda fountain and numerous other shops line the quaint shopping area. The Tony Award-Winning Utah Shakespearean Festival in the summer and fall and the allure of skiing in the winter months at Brian Head Ski Resort allow visitors to enjoy the best of what Southern Utah has to offer.

St. George: Known as “Utah’s Dixie”, St. George is a popular retirement destination and a popular second home community. Residents and visitors are attracted to St. George’s scenic beauty and its close proximity to Zion National Park, Lake Powell and Grand Canyon National Park. Area recreation includes more than 10 golf courses, numerous hiking and biking trails, as well as the many cultural events that occur in the area. Both Tuacahn and the St. George Musical Theater bring Broadway to the desert, along with other venues that provide a wide range of entertainment for all ages. Ancient dinosaur tracks may be viewed at the St. George Dinosaur Discovery Site, and Anasazi ruins can be visited nearby. St. George is truly one of Utah’s top destinations.

National Parks: Utah’s National Parks feature some of the most uniquely beautiful landscapes in the Southwest, with distinctly different and dramatic geological formations. Zion, Bryce Canyon, Capitol Reef, Canyonlands and Arches national parks are all in Southern Utah, ready to be explored. There’s also the North Rim of the Grand Canyon, Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument, Rainbow Bridge National Monument, Glen Canyon Recreational Area, Natural Bridges National Monument and access to Monument Valley.

Moab: This town is known as “the adventure capitol of Utah.” Also known as the “off-road vehicle capitol of the world,” Moab is home to one of the most challenging mountain bike trails in the world. Numerous Ancient Rock Art sites are also accessible in and near Moab.

The gateway to Arches National Park, Moab also offers great hiking, rock climbing, rafting, kayaking and canoeing for people of all skill levels. The town is located on Utah 191 on the banks of the Colorado River in a green valley that stands out against the red and tan desert landscape. There are numerous great outdoor outfitters and guides, diverse cuisine and unique accommodations, from camping to four-star B&Bs.

Not only does Utah have "The Greatest Snow on Earth", but we're also famous for our spectacular mountain biking, including Moab's Slickrock Trail. There are also scenic hikes, premier golf courses, blue ribbon fishing streams, challenging rock climbs and miles of off-road, cross country skiing and snowmobile trails. For the less adventure-some, peaceful forests and serene wildflower meadows welcome those who want to lose themselves in nature.
