Flyfishing on the Provo River

Spectacular mountain ranges, astounding red rock formations, magnificent National Parks, Native American ruins and pioneer trails are just a few of the reasons to explore Utah. Outdoor enthusiasts love our state because of the great skiing, mountain biking, fishing, hiking, golf and off-road opportunities available.

There are numerous local, state and national forests, monuments and parks including Bryce Canyon, Zion, Arches, Capitol Reef and Canyonlands National Parks; Rainbow Bridge, Grand Staircase-Escalante and National Bridges National Monuments. Or for those seeking rest and relaxation, Utah provides options from pastoral countrysides and romantic gardens to world class spas. In addition, visitors can access the Grand Canyon, visit nearby Monument Valley Tribal Park and enjoy recreational areas such as Lake Powell.

When planning your trip to Utah, make reservations at one of our inspected and approved bed and breakfasts, inns or ranches. Wherever you stay, you will find majestic national parks, scenic byways, historic cities and some of the best mountain and golf resorts in the nation just a short distance away.

Golden Spike National Historic Site

Logan: Home of Utah State University and much of Utah's agricultural land. The city is steeped in history, yet today is a growing cosmopolitan area. Travel along US Hwy. 89 through the almost vertical canyon walls of Logan Canyon to Bear Lake. The canyon slices through the peaks of the Wasatch Mountains following the Logan River. Activities include rock climbing, fishing, bird watching, camping, hiking, boating and more at Bear Lake.

Or travel west to visit the Golden Spike National Historic Site, the location of the meeting of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroads on May 10, 1869 which completed the transcontinental rail link.

East of Ogden, through the winding Ogden Canyon, lie the mountain resorts of Snowbasin (site of several 2002 Winter Games events), Powder and Wolf Mountains. Pineview Reservoir and miles of access trails provides plenty of summer activities.

Member Inns are located in Logan, Providence, Eden, and Huntsville.

The Mormon Temple
in Salt Lake City

Great Salt Lake: Located west of Salt Lake City, the remnant of the ancient Lake Bonneville is impressive, whether you stand on the shore or take to the water via kayak or dinner cruise. The lake varies in depth some 20 feet and is six or seven times saltier than the ocean. Visit Antelope Island to view its resident buffalo herd. Or hike, bike or camp along the sandy shoreline.

Metro Salt Lake City: This beautiful capitol city lies in a valley east of the Great Salt Lake and is surrounded by mountains. Tour the capitol building or explore Temple Square, home of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (commonly known as the LDS or Mormon Church). Within the Square, visitors find the massive Mormon Temple and other buildings that celebrate the history of the Mormon settlers.

The city is also home to the University of Utah, numerous museums, and businesses with local, as well as global influence. Salt Lake City and the surrounding small cities also have wonderful shopping areas. Visit competition venues used during the 2002 Winter Olympics or take in an NBA game with the Utah Jazz, a baseball game with the Salt Lake Bees, a hockey match with the Utah Grizzlies or enjoy a soccer match with Real Salt Lake of Major League Soccer.

With an international airport, and a location at the intersection of I-80 and I-15, Salt Lake City is used by many as a base from which to experience the many activities available throughout the west. Choose from eleven ski resorts, numerous golf courses, and hundreds of miles of hiking and biking trails. The city is central to Jackson Hole and the Grand Tetons in Wyoming, Sun Valley in Idaho, Yellowstone National Park in Montana, Utah's National Parks in the state's southeast and southwest, the Grand Canyon, and numerous Native American sites of the Four Corners.

Member Inns are in Metro Salt Lake City as well as in Brighton.

Park City and the Wasatch Back:

This classic alpine town features three World Class Mountain resorts and is a favorite spot for hiking, biking, fishing and golfing in the summer. East of Salt Lake City off I-80, the city hosted numerous 2002 Winter Olympic events. Park City is also known as the home of Robert Redford's Sundance Film Festival. Each January, the festival showcases new work from American and international independent filmmakers, attracting movie stars, producers, directors and avid cinema fans. An array of unique shops, art galleries, restaurants and theaters call Park City home. And there's never a shortage of entertainment—the Park City International Music Festival, International Jazz Festival, a film series, music and dance venues, restaurants, bars and other venues keep residents and visitors busy. The Heber and Kamas Valleys provide a classic Western small-town feel along with numerous recreational and cultural opportunities.

Member Inns are in Park City, Midway, and Kamas.

Provo: About 40 miles south of Salt Lake City, Provo is another growing city that is also home to Brigham Young University, one of the largest privately owned universities in the U.S. Strong business as well as recreational opportunities abound.

Stop at Bridal Veil Falls in Provo Canyon, just north of Provo on Hwy. 189. The double cataract waterfall drops about 600 feet, into the canyon below. Art buffs should plan to make a stop at Springville Museum of Art in Springville just south of Provo. The museum has received national recognition and is Utah's oldest and most beautiful museum for the visual fine arts.

A Member Inn is located in Provo.

Utah State Capitol Building

Hillside of fall colors

Accessed primarily from I-15 and Utah's Heritage Highway #89, Central Utah's pioneer heritage is revealed in the towns, and in the cultural and recreational opportunities that abound.

On Highway #89, The Historic Manti Temple (one of the first built by the LDS Church) and its annual Mormon Miracle Pageant are a "must see" for visitors. Pioneer homes and museums, as well as those of contemporary art are located throughout the area.

Area activities include boating, fishing, camping, golf, and rock climbing. Some 500+ miles of ATV trails include those that ascend through the aspen and pine forests of the Manti-LaSal National Forest, and includes the "Skyline Drive" (one of the highest roads in the US). The newly developed Arapeen Trail system may be accessed directly from area inns. Horseback riding, mountain biking, and winter snowmobiling are also popular uses of the trails.

Utah's first Capitol was the Historic town of Fillmore located along I-15. The original Statehouse building stands today as the oldest existing governmental building in the state.

Central Utah is also home to The Cleveland-Lloyd Dinosaur Quarry, one of the world's foremost dinosaur fossil sources. More than 12,000 individual bones and one dinosaur egg have come from this prolific fossil bed.

Member Inns are located in Manti and Spring City.

National Parks and Monuments: Utah's National Parks and Monuments feature some of the most unique landscapes in the Southwestern US, with distinctly different and dramatic geological formations. Ready to be explored are Zion Canyon, Bryce Canyon, Capitol Reef, Canyonlands and Arches National Parks, as well as Cedar Breaks and Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monuments.

Cedar City: Located in the southwestern part of Utah, Cedar City features a historic downtown shopping district with unique "mom and pop" establishments, art galleries, restaurants, and numerous other shops that line the quaint shopping area. The city is home to the Tony Award-Winning Utah Shakespearean Festival, and its proximity to Brian Head Ski Resort and Cedar Breaks National Monument allow visitors to enjoy the best of what Southern Utah has to offer.

St. George: Known as "Utah's Dixie", St. George is a popular retirement destination and second home community in southwestern Utah. Residents and visitors are attracted to St. George's scenic beauty and its proximity to Zion and Bryce National Parks, Lake Powell and Grand Canyon National Park.

Area recreation includes more than 10 golf courses, luxurious spas, numerous hiking and biking trails, as well as the many cultural event venues, including Tuacahn and the St. George Musical Theater, which bring Broadway to the desert. Ancient dinosaur tracks and Ancient Native American sites can be visited nearby.

Member Inns are located in Cedar City, St. George, Rockville and Springdale at Zion Canyon NP, and Tropic and Panguitch near Bryce Canyon NP.

Moab: This southeastern Utah town is known as “the adventure capitol of Utah”, and “off-road vehicle capitol of the world.” Moab is also home to one of the most challenging mountain bike trails in the world. Numerous Ancient Rock Art sites are also accessible in and near Moab. The gateway to Arches and Canyonlands National Parks, Moab also offers great hiking, rock climbing, rafting, kayaking and canoeing for people of all skill levels. The town is located on Utah Hwy. 191 on the banks of the Colorado River in a green valley that stands out against the red and tan desert landscape. There are numerous great outdoor outfitters and guides, diverse cuisine and unique accommodations. Member Inns are in Moab, Castle Valley and Old La Sal.
